NeoVita announces its scholarship program

NeoVita Computer Centre has recently announced the first recipient of its Scholarship Program. Ms. Marife Ringor, will be the first scholar that the centre is sponsoring for FREE computer classes and other courses that she will be interested to take from NeoVita.

Known as "Peng" to her friends, Marife arrived here in Singapore on 11 December 2003 for a six-month training in Hotel and Restaurant Management she takes in Cagayan Colleges Tuguegarao. She hails from Bidduang, Pamplona, Cagayan Valley. As a first timer in a foreign country, she experiences being homesick and often desires to call home as often as possible. But with the limited allowance she earns, calling home on a regular basis became very hard for her.

She just hang around Lucky Plaza during her free time to chance upon other Filipinos and she feels she is being brought back home. This is where NeoVita management chanced upon her. She easily agreed to visit NeoVita's place and an assessment of her reveals that she has the capability to learn but needs financial assistance to upgrade herself. She is the eldest in a brood of five. The family earns a living with his father as a farmer while her mother takes care of her four siblings. High hopes are placed upon her to help her family when she finally gets her degree after her training in Singapore and she is looking forward to it when she goes home on 11 June 2004.

NeoVita intends to train her in MS Office applications and upgrade her Computer skills she learned from her school. During her free time now, she frequents NeoVita for her training. Congratulations to Marife!!!
